You don't have to play dumb, 'cause we know that you are gonna like this new record from the Punkland of Milk and Honey. Oh Canadu!, what good tunes you bringeth once again to our undeserving ears. Even though it is December, you can leave the fan on and put it on high while the OUTTACONTROLLER throws the best MARKED MEN, RAMONES, M.O.T.O., WHITE WIRES and MEAN JEANS shit into it and sprinkles your walls with the best poppy Power-Punk in ages. This one just doesn't stop and you get the full 16-song service that starts with the MEANEST of JEANS gun "Pointed at you", has some cool "oozing" background vocals along with those simple and sticky RAMONES riffs in "Deal with Neil", "Graveyard Kid" or "Hydromorphone love", rocks out M.O.T.O. style in "Pink pocket knife" and "Prescription thrills", adds a bit of distorted and spacey synthie soundz in "Everybody's telling me" and has enough melodies and surprises to make you sick of pleasure and dizzy with joy.

A record to empty your head of all trouble and to remember you of the beauty of a good shot of catchy Punkrock. Don't play dumb, go loco!
