Yes After we released the debut full length "High & Tight", we realised the bands self released 7" was nearing the end of its first pressing (limited to 300 copies on the bands own label No Rules!). This gem is what sucked us in to doing the LP in the first place and we wanted to make sure it continued to be available again. So we teamed up with FDH and Resurrection to reissue this cant miss 7".

Here is nice little review of it:

"The band spews out scuffed-up powerpop that has as much pent-up energy as GENTLEMAN JESSE. It comes less rootsy and more awkward, but if you can sit still through the self-titled "Primitive Heart", we doubt you'd pass an empathy test. One of the of the scrappiest love songs of the year, it's vulnerable without being sappy. The hook is ample, but the verse is what gets stuck in your head, swirling around uplifting major chords that shake you into submission. It feels like a sucker-punch before "Believe Me", which bellows with enough background "ooh-ooooo...." to make Shannon Shaw blush. "Killing Time" hits a mid-tempo stride with a dirty lick and sing-along vocals before venturing into the minute long FLAMIN' GROOVIES stomp of "Breakdown". It could be the production by Elvis Christ, but the EP is saturated in the same ball-in-hand catchiness as NOBUNNY'S "First Blood". Sure, it's lacking the signature mania, but PRIMITIVE HEARTS display an overall simplicity that's done to perfection." - Zach Stephenson/ Get Bent (No Rules Records)
