Superlively Polish four-piece PAST knows just exactly how to summon "the good old times" with their debut-4-track-release aka DEMO. On one hand this postpunk-beast clearly orientates itself to fellow countrymen MADE IN POLAND and the almighty SIEKIERA (Nova Alexandria-era), on the other one can hear a good slice of dreamy VÄNNA INGET and X-MAL DEUTSCHLAND - which btw were painted on the back of my very first leatherjacket, hehe. Dreamy and driven, melancholic and yet critical of society - the song "Ulrike" is about German RAF-founder Ulrike Meinhof - there's a distinct leftwing punk background going on, and that's the way it has to be!

The rotating female-male vocals are brilliant and add an extra-large special bonus as they are in their mother tongue. There's no way around PAST if you're in any way into good 80s postpunk!!
